Knitting is cool and is becoming increasingly popular amongst the younger generation! Knitting connects people across generations. In a time where distractions like phones and tablets appear to reign supreme, knitting brings people together in a way no electronic device ever could. Despite being dubbed the most lonely generation, young people do crave meaningful connections like everyone else.

Why not link up with your friends on Zoom or Google Hangouts and do it together or create a challenge to make something between you and see who can come up with the best product! You could even make blankets for the RSPCA.
